

Shane McNamee

Software Architect

Shane serves as the Software Architect within RiverFront's Technology & Innovation Group, bringing over 10 years of software development experience to the firm.

Shane joined RiverFront in January 2011 as an Information Support Specialist. Prior to joining RiverFront, Shane served as a Java Web Developer at Pragmatics, Inc. in McLean, VA. Before working for Pragmatics, he interned at RiverFront in the summer of 2008.

Shane earned a BS in Computer Science from James Madison University.

His competitive nature encompasses all arenas, but when he is not tied to a computer, he especially enjoys softball, tennis, and bowling. As an avid baseball fan, Shane spends his time at home teaching his two little girls to be Yankees fans. He has been known to make a friendly wager on sports in the office to supplement his income.
